So you're looking for a meeting venue and team building event that's not like most others?

We've got you!

- ✓ Host your meeting.
- ✓ Learn from a pastry chef.
- ✓ Bake some deliciousness.
- ✓ Spread some kindness.
- ✓ Have a great time.

what is it tho?!

You'll host your half-day meeting in one of the gorgeous Millennium Hotel meeting rooms with a scrumptious morning or afternoon tea, lunch and drinks, with a side of team building to break up the work.

During (or before or after!) your meeting, you'll settle into one of Millennium's beautiful kitchens to bake something delicious with the help of a very clever pastry chef.

There will be a couple of recipes to bake with all the ingredients and tools ready to go. You can decide whether this will be a mini team challenge or one for the whole group to complete together.

While the treats are baking, you can head back to your meeting or relax and enjoy your lunch – you might like to discuss how to encourage small acts of everyday kindness in your workplace.

Once the baking is ready, you'll quality check it and then pack it up to be delivered to one of Good Bitches Baking's recipient organisations. You can decorate the boxes and include a note from your team on the back of our ingredients flyer to personalise the treats a little.
